OPEN ED LIVE

2024 Conference

Online

UNIVERSITY OF
CENTRAL FLORIDA

Open Ed Live: The Future of Learning for All Through Open Education
February 27-29, 2024: Agenda at a Glance
All times are in Eastern Standard Time (EST)

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 27, 2024

11:45 – 11:59	Open Ed Live Welcome
12:00 – 12:50	AI, openness, and our educative re/turn: Educator agency amid perpetual uncertainty
1:00 – 1:50	OER Basics Drop-in Session
4:00 – 4:50	OuER Story: In the Interests of All

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 28, 2024

12:00 – 12:50	Is Opt-In the Future of "Inclusive Access"?
1:00 – 1:50	Open Pedagogy Drop-in Session
4:00 – 4:50	Open Minds, Open Doors Panel

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 29, 2024

12:00 – 12:50	Confessions from OER Adopters: Implementing Open Education Resources from the Faculty Perspective
1:00 – 1:50	Accessibility and Open Education Drop-In Session
4:00 – 4:50	OER for Libraries and Textbook Affordability Partners
4:50 – 4:59	Open Ed Live Closing

UNIVERSITY OF CENTRAL FLORIDA

Open Ed Live: The Future of Learning for All Through Open Education
February 27-29, 2024: Extended Agenda

11:45 AM – 11:59 AM

Open Ed Live Welcome!

Amanda Major, University of Central Florida

Welcome to our exploration of the boundless opportunities of open education to improve learning experiences for students everywhere. & In closing, let's celebrate the power of open education and continue our collective journey toward a more welcoming and accessible learning landscape.

12:00 PM – 12:50 PM

AI, openness, and our educative re/turn: Educator agency amid perpetual uncertainty

Keynote Address – Jonathan Lashley, Idaho State Board of Education

While the educational implications of generative AI are unfolding as quickly as they are evolving, they are not the only disruptive changes—technological or otherwise—facing educators. For many of us, our teaching and learning have only ever contended with an exhausting sense of uncertainty. In this session, we will explore how open educational practices help us (1) grapple with the ever-growing uncertainties surrounding AI in education and (2) revisit where our most enduring values as educators reside.

1:00 PM – 1:50 PM

OER Basics Drop-in Session

Kevin Corcoran, University of Central Florida

Lily Dubach, University of Central Florida

Join this session on OER basics and bring your questions! In this safe and informal space, facilitators are ready to receive your questions on the 5Rs, promoting OER, launching a program, open pedagogy, and so on. This session does not include a formal presentation; instead, attendees will ask questions and facilitators will guide discussion on various topics related to open education.

4:00 PM – 4:50 PM

OuER Story: In the Interests of All

Anne Prucha, University of Central Florida

Kacie Tartt, University of Central Florida

In this session the presenters will speak about their use of Open Educational Resources combined with Personalized Adaptive Learning in redesigned high-enrollment GenEd courses. Hear about their successes and challenges--plus outcomes--in a non-traditional approach with OER and PAL in the Humanities. The session will also focus on the advantages and benefits of these innovations for students and faculty alike.

12:00 PM – 12:50 PM	Is Opt-In the Future of "Inclusive Access"? Nicole Allen, SPARC Wendy Howard, University of Central Florida "Inclusive Access" is a model that has been adopted by many institutions to provide students with course materials. Recent developments at the federal level have raised questions about the transparency and equity of these programs. This presentation will discuss the current state of Inclusive Access, including how regulatory changes proposed by the U.S. Department of Education may change the default model from "opt-out" to "opt-in." It will also share the University of Central Florida's experience implementing a successful opt-in Inclusive Access program.
1:00 PM – 1:50 PM	Open Pedagogy Drop-In Session Denise Lowe, University of Central Florida Kevin Corcoran, University of Central Florida Join this session on Open Pedagogy and bring your questions! In this safe and informal space, facilitators are ready to receive your questions regarding open pedagogy benefits and practical implementation practices. This session does not include a formal presentation; instead, attendees will ask questions and facilitators will guide discussion on topics related to open pedagogy.
4:00 PM – 4:50 PM	Open Minds, Open Doors Panel Facilitator – Aimee deNoyelles, University of Central Florida Student – Luci Blanco, SGA Director of Academic Affairs, University of Central Florida Student – Joshua Ashby, Wiki Knights, University of Central Florida Student – Jerrett Longworth, Wiki Knights, University of Central Florida Student – Carson Cox, Wiki Knights, University of Central Florida What is open education and how does it benefit students? How do students perceive and use open educational resources (OER) in their courses? What are the challenges and opportunities of open education for students and instructors? Join us for a lively and informative discussion with a panel of UCF students who have experienced open education in different disciplines and contexts. Hear their stories, insights, and recommendations on how open education can improve learning outcomes, reduce costs, and foster a more inclusive and equitable learning environment.

12:00 PM – 12:50 PM

Confessions from OER Adopters: Implementing Open Education Resources from the Faculty Perspective

Amanda Groff, University of Central Florida

Lana Williams, University of Central Florida

Michael Callaghan, University of Central Florida

Sandra Wheeler, University of Central Florida

Join Department of Anthropology faculty as they discuss 3 different methods for implementing open education resources in the classroom. From adaption to adoption to creation, listen to real-world experiences and learn more about the time involved, benefits to you, students, and department, and how to get started.

1:00 PM – 1:50 PM

Accessibility and Open Education Drop-In Session

Karen Tinsley-Kim, University of Central Florida

Kevin Corcoran, University of Central Florida

Join this session on accessibility and open education and bring your questions! In this safe and informal space, facilitators are ready to receive your question. This session does not include a formal presentation; instead, attendees will ask questions and facilitators will guide discussion on topics related to accessibility and open education.

4:00 PM – 4:50 PM

OER for Libraries and Textbook Affordability Partners

Lily Dubach, University of Central Florida

Sarah Norris, University of Central Florida

Join us for an interactive workshop that explores the synergies between libraries and Open Educational Resources (OER). This session will highlight libraries' role in OER; explore how textbook affordability partners and libraries can exchange ideas, strategies, and best practices; provide a five-fold approach to open education in libraries; and include an active discussion about new technologies to streamline OER adoption, adaptation, authorship.

4:50 PM – 4:59 PM

Open Ed Live Closing!

Amanda Major, University of Central Florida

Thank you for joining us in this journey of discovering the endless possibilities of open education to enhance the learning outcomes of learners across the globe. As we conclude, let's applaud the potential of open education and keep working together to create a more complete and equitable learning environment.